ASW OFFICERS BUILD WEST'S UNITY

One guy and four gals headed the 1976-77 ASW officer team. Meeting the first two periods of each school day, they set up major goals for the 1976-77 year, which included to keep up traditions, arouse more student participation, improve stumps and movies, budget money, and control vandalism. The ASW officers began the year with Homecoming events: fence decorating with walls of colored napkins around the football field, familiar faces of alumni in the halls, and, to top off the day, a football game. The movie "Arnold," planned by ASW leaders, thrilled the Panthers for their Halloween treat. They crowded into the gym with pillows, candy wrappers, and paper cups. The hunting of a red and black stick, stuffing of VW's and dressing up recalled events of Spirit Week. ASW officers, for the second year in a row, sponsored the E-board dance. As Western Round-Up drew near, clubs worked on booths to make it "the round-up of all time." This event, followed by elections during the week of May 2, climaxed the year for the 76-77 leaders. Panther president Brent Grimm united with the team of officers to establish spirit and unify the studentbody of West. Asked to state his opinion, Brent replied: "Panthers of 76-77, I felt that the traditions of West High are very important and should be recognized, a respect for the school be observed, and vandalism should become a word not necessary to use. Students should come to the officers with their troubles and ideas. By doing this, officers know what should and should not be done. I compliment the studentbody for helping to make this year one that future studentbodies will look back on and follow."

EAGER E-BOARD EASES THROUGH 76-77

Glenna sleepily thinks about E-Board affairs, but getting up early isn't all in vain with treats on the table.

Brent, Mary, and Bob relax on the couch, planning the West calendar.

Contributing to E-Board discussions, Patty Nigbur reacts cheerfully.

Calvin Lloyd playfully looks onward while an army tank hovers over him.

W-E-S-T! Cheerleaders strongly yell out the cheer to gain school spirit.

Laughing at the cries of joy and new found pride, the Executive Board scheduled activities, informal pep rallies, and promoted school spirit. Responsible for all extracurricular events, the thirteen member E-Board worked to achieve success in urging Panthers to become enthusiastic and involved. Meeting during the advisory period every day, they functioned with their sponsor Mr. Blackhurst and ASW treasurer Mrs. Butler. Offering assemblies, dances, films, stomps, and traditional Homecoming festivities as diversions from attending class, E-Board persevered through the year and planned the annual E-Board dance, the Christmas assembly and Western Round-up. For Spirit Week contests, when students competed against classes for points, the students participated in finding the spirit stick, stuffing Volkswagens and dressing for farmers, 50's and grub days. On February 10, students went berserk in their efforts to "Freak East" for the basketball game. Ending the week-long celebration, t-shirts and tennis shoes filled the halls on February 11. That evening pillows flopped around the gym while the movie "A Man Called Horse" played to the Panther audience.

SENATE CONFRONTS VANDALS' HOLIDAY

Working on possible constitutional changes and an anti-vandalism campaign, the Student Senate met and discussed these topics during first period. The five senators, elected in October from each class, followed the agenda for 76-77 in visiting city high schools, Olympus, Highland, Granite, and Skyline, to learn of their government classes and proceedings.

In addition to purchasing black sweaters, the members presented a skit for the Cottonwood vs. West pep assembly, February 15.

Under supervision of Mr. Skedros, faculty advisor, Mary O'Bagy, president; Joan Holfeltz, vice-president; and Kelly Riley, secretary, Student Senate collected, along with KSL, "Quarters For Christmas."

ROW THREE: Laura Bagshaw, Georgia May, Lisa Dickerson, Margie Beck, Arlene Rivera, Angela Quinn. BACK: Elaine Van Vernde, Melanie King, Steve Talbot, John Thompson, Leslie Black.

Student Senate sits in a circle to discuss ways they can stop vandalism.

"I just wanted to point out our next topic", says Joan Holfeltz.

Elected in the spring of 1976, the Senior class officers, representing the 426 seniors, began the year with the production of the student directory. It included names, telephone numbers and addresses of the 2236 students enrolled at West.

Taking part in Homecoming, the Seniors were in charge of the egg throw and jumprope contests. Also adding to the week's festivities, they took part in the "Fence Decorating Contest." A yellow background helped brighten up the multi-colored lettering on the fence which read "The Senior Class of 77."

Cramming for ACT test, answering college entrance exams, and filling out scholarship applications became an everyday routine for Seniors, as graduation grew closer and closer.

Mr. John Padjen sponsored the Senior class, and together the four of them planned graduation which included the search of commencement speakers, the measurement of caps and gowns, and the ordering of graduation announcements. Graduation came June 4, as Seniors reminisced about their three years at West and sought their long-awaited diplomas after completing 12 years of school.

Celebrating the new school year with a DEE-licious breakfast on September 8, the Junior class officers started the year of decisions with a Homecoming fence, the Pink Panther proclaiming that West is still No. 1. Their sponsor Curt Hood helped them smooth out the rough edges in their projects. They planned the Junior prom, "Forever and A Day," held at Prudential Plaza on February 12. Graduating Seniors celebrated their accomplishments by attending the graduation dance which was also Junior-sponsored. Being in Pep Club meant that 60 Junior girls cheered, team treated, and marched. The 91 members of Junior choir, conducted by Mr. Maher, sang at various malls during the holidays. They also sang with the A Cappella in a song festival on December 11 at the Tabernacle. "Homework, homework, homework!" echoed from the Juniors who participated in the Honors and AP programs. In Honors English they studied Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" and "Macbeth." Reading The Illiad by Homer gave them some background of the Greek culture. Mr. Skedros taught AP American History to Juniors who studied the Constitution and the way the government works. Drawing charts and maps helped these students prepare themselves for the AP history test held at the end of the year for which they could possibly receive college credit.

Newly painted bright orange, brown, and gold halls welcomed back the Sophomores for their second year of high school on August 31. The Sophomore officers worked together as a team to represent and unify the Sophomore class. In first period Brad discussed with other E-board members plans to keep the Sophomore spirit of West High and its traditions.

During Homecoming week, the Sophomore officers provided the Panther "lick-out" in the three lunch periods. Frustrated students raced against one another to lick-up a bowl of milk which proved who the Panther "kittens" were. The officers decorated the Sophomore section of the fence in a Bicentennial theme with red, white, and blue. On March 24 the officers sponsored the Sophomore stomp and encouraged all the student body to attend.

The Sophomores read The Odyssey, Black Boy, The Pearl, Dandelion Wine, and My Darling, My Hamburger, in their English Classes. Learning about the Renaissance, the Reformation, Greece, and Rome, World History students relived the past for a few weeks. Mr. Maher started Junior Choir tryouts for Sophomores soon after Christmas vacation and in mid-March tenth grade girls began trying out for Pep Club. Tenth graders looked forward to being West's upperclassmen.

"We are the Freshman class and will honor all traditions." This was the motto of the second 9th grade in West High history. They voted on September 16 to elect officers who would lead their class. Working with the E-Board, these elected leaders put forth their ideas to help solve problems and learn to express their own thoughts. On September 8, the freshmen attended an orientation assembly planned by E-Board. They met in the auditorium and learned the traditions of West High. Freshmen participated in Homecoming activities such as the fence decorating contest. Their entry portrayed a panther head and a block "W" done in white Kleenex. They sponsored the arm wrestling contest during lunch periods when students participated in showing Panther power. On November 29 Freshmen met in the cafeteria to take a test that judged their reading level. President of the Freshman class, Steve Haycock, expressed his opinion about the year. He said, "Freshman need to get more involved individually. They created bad feelings and felt inferior to other students." The 1976-77 Freshmen class has experienced a year at West and have many more to come. So lookout, world, here comes the class of 1980!

ADMINISTRATIVE ACADEMICS

Dr. Fowler shows interest in students as he chats with Debra Kesgard.

With figures already stored in his mind, Dr. Fowler casually adds more.

PRINCIPAL SHOWS DEDICATION TO PANTHERS

"A school is made up of students. The students can make the school good or they can make it bad," Dr. Fowler stated. He thought the students of West had great potential. Through all of his experience working at West, Dr. Fowler ran the school with the students' interest in mind. Along with the other high schools in the city, he promoted a basic skills evaluation, having teachers examine their teaching techniques. Dr. Fowler pointed out that this led to a stronger program and made school more meaningful. It also taught students to accept the responsibility for their education and prepare them for the future. He also arranged for additional semester classes, starting in 77-78 to offer more variety to students. Dr. Fowler showed interest in students by taking time to talk to them when they needed his help, by attending all school functions, and arranging for assemblies.

Roger Tucker
Assistant Principal

Robert Blackhurst
Assistant Principal

Tons of papers piled on Mr. O'Brien's desk confront him with headaches.

Sitting among students, the assistant principals watch a state game.

Teacher at Irving and Hillside Junior Highs, an assistant principal at Hillside and Roosevelt, and a principal at Glendale before coming to West, Mr. O'Brien said, "I am happy at West and I like being an assistant principal." As assistant principal, Mr. O'Brien handled curriculum and instruction problems. He also made sure that seniors met the graduation requirements and was one of the founders of the Honors program.

A former teacher and part time counselor at Roosevelt, a counselor at Highland High, and a principal at Jordan Junior, Mr. Tucker was 9th grade specialist and was in charge of discipline and attendance for 9th and 10th graders. Asked about the freshmen at West, he replied, "West is getting a little more used to having the freshmen." Mr. Tucker received his BS degree from the U of U and has done graduate work at the U of U and Idaho State.

Previously a teacher at Horace Mann, Counselor at Northwest, and assistant principal at South High, Mr. Blackhurst came to West in 1974. He was in charge of counseling, activities, E-Board, and attendance. Of West's studentbody he stated, "It is very fine to work with students and they are appreciative of educational benefits." One of his goals was for every student that leaves West to be proud they attended West and be prepared for a university or technical field.

SALT LAKE BOARD STRESSES BASIC SKILLS

SALT LAKE CITY BOARD OF EDUCATION OFFICERS — Mr. Dan S. Bushnell, President; Mr. John Crawford, Jr., Past President; Dr. M. Donald Thomas, Superintendent.

Much of the responsibility for the actions and decisions of the District's schools rested on the Board of Education. These elected officials served the interests of the voters, parents, and students.

Mr. Dan S. Bushnell, new president of the Board and senior member for the group, stressed that there should be continuing emphasis on the basic skills, broadening competencies in all subject matter areas, and progressing toward the concepts of fundamental education.

Representing West's views at the regular Board meetings, Mr. C. Thomas Duggar and Mr. Richard E. Carman, precinct 1 and precinct 3, respectively, spoke intensely about their hopes for the schools: "We must go ahead with the basic skills program and fully implement it. All students and parents should know where they stand in respect to the basic skills achieved by the students. Our remedial program must be in operation to help those students who need it. Students should have greater choices in alternative course selections on all levels. We should work toward expansion of facilities and make schools more available to the community in after-school hours and during the summer." Mr. Carman also expressed his concern for moral and ethical teaching in schools.

Individual schools enforced decisions made by the representatives on the Salt Lake City Board of Education to benefit students, parents, and the community.

5 COUNSELORS LEND A LISTENING EAR

In Mrs. Hargraves office, a Panther student receives counseling.

Tony, where are you?

Giving students advice and showing concern for their achievement was the goal of the 76-77 counselors. One of their biggest jobs was to meet with students who had program changes. Displaying concern for school difficulties, one of the activities that counselors organized involved students from South, West, Skyline, Olympus and East. A panel on a TV telecast contributed ideas and possible solutions on vandalism, school spirit and the improvement of each school's system. Mr. Brent Taylor moderated this program and expressed his views which stimulated student thought. The purpose and design of the program was to make students aware and get ideas from the discussion. The counselors set up a new organization known as the UP Program. Students signed up for this class to receive instruction from counselors in order to counsel their peers who had emotional problems.

10 SECRETARIES CREATE SMOOTH SAILING

Day-to-day school activities occupied ten secretaries throughout the school year with various duties which consisted of filing registration cards, typing daily announcements, preparing absentee lists, and handling class schedule changes. For the first time at West the counselors had a full time secretary working in the office, Mrs. Reva Jensen. She answered phones, filed referrals and helped counselors with students who transferred out. Working for the State prior to coming West, she said she enjoyed her first year here and the change of atmosphere. Mrs. Bisignano, or known among the students as Mrs. "B", took care of her responsibilities in the book store where she sold paper backs, state ribbons, Panther spirit buttons and last minute supplies such as pencils and paper. Once again the secretaries helped to make the year run smoother for the student body and staff of West High.

Working the switchboard, Mrs. Sacco answers, "West High School."

Carol Butler examines her morning mail before going to her office.

Mrs. Woodruff exhibits her proficiency by doing three things at once.

David Smith, your new graphics media man, joins the line-up with personnel of the Library Learning Center.

Mrs. Marty Waldbillig and Molley Hadley, new personnel in the Library Learning Center worked to serve Panthers and faculty with the help of twenty student aids.

The Library Learning Center increased its facilities with new material and equipment, such as 30 media kits, 1300 books, 20 magazines, 40 cassettes, 8 sound projectors, and music, films, charts, and maps.

Teachers distributed passes to students needing to study in the Library Learning Center, making it easier for the media staff. Then they and fewer students to serve and could create a better atmosphere for learning.

Mr. Walton and his crew took advantage of the Video Control facility located in the media and, with the help of Mr. Prince, started each morning with the WHTV Morning News.

Media Center coordinators Marty Waldbillig and LaRayne Mickels examine an interesting cover story in one of the many magazines available.

A startled staff member, Molly Hadley, throws an inquisitive glance up from her typewriter to the video door and sees a waiting patron.

ROTC PATRONS PRESENT AMERICAN FLAG

ROTC trained the 145 students enrolled to become acquainted with the armed service. It sought to develop students for positions of military leadership.

Students enrolled in an ROTC unit were organized along military lines. One student, Joe Ortiz, served as Battalion Commander, and others held staff or command positions below him.

The City Drill Meet, February 1, consisting of Regulation Exhibition Drills, helped the ROTC prepare for the State Drill Meet April 2. By participating in the City Drill Meet members of ROTC could try to perfect areas in which they were lacking skill, for the State Drill Meet, and the Mile High Drill Meet, April 22-24.

The ROTC, Reserve Officer Training Corps, held their annual Military Ball May 6 at Skyline High School.

The English program provided several learning experiences from professionals. Mr. Primus St. John represented the "poets in residence" program while he taught in the AP and Honors English classes for a week. He tried to get the students to use their imagination and not to be afraid to expand their thoughts. Another English endeavor occurred on December 8; Southern Utah State University modeled costumes and told about the type of clothing worn during the time of Shakespeare. In Miss Haltiner's AP classes, Marion Carter from the Public Library came in February to demonstrate and teach the art of story telling.

The Advanced Placement and Honors English programs helped students prepare for the AP test in which students could earn college credit and ease the transition from high school to university.

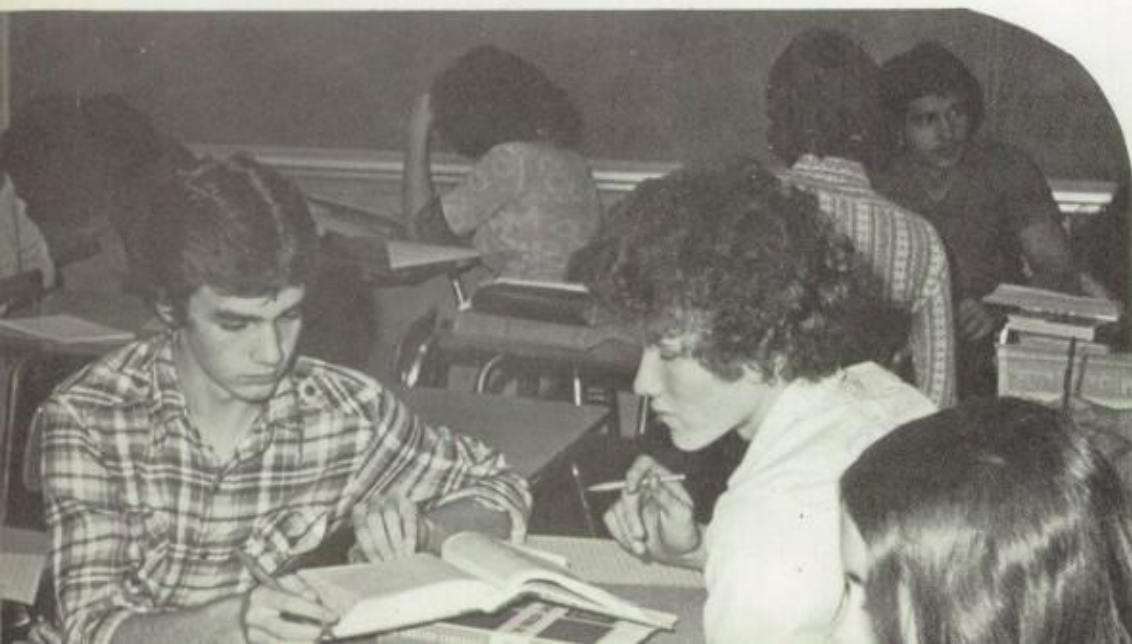

Mrs. Mathew's class does an exercise in communication with building blocks.

Down with the old, up with the new! That's the attitude the Science Department had as science rooms started to change. New display cases, floors, blackboards, cupboards, an enclosed green house, and four new sinks were part of the remodeling in all Science classes. The remodeling of the storage room made it more convenient and CLEAN. Redecorating stopped too soon because carpenters left door-knobs off doors.

To fulfill one of two years required social studies credit, Sociology classes attended a field trip to the Point of the Mountain where the students observed prison life and security techniques. They also watched "In Cold Blood" and "Thou Shalt Not Kill" with discussions on prison reform and capital punishment. "The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman" informed US History classes on new insights gained into early American slavery for a Civil War unit.

MUSIC, ART CLASSES PLAY, CARVE, SCULPT

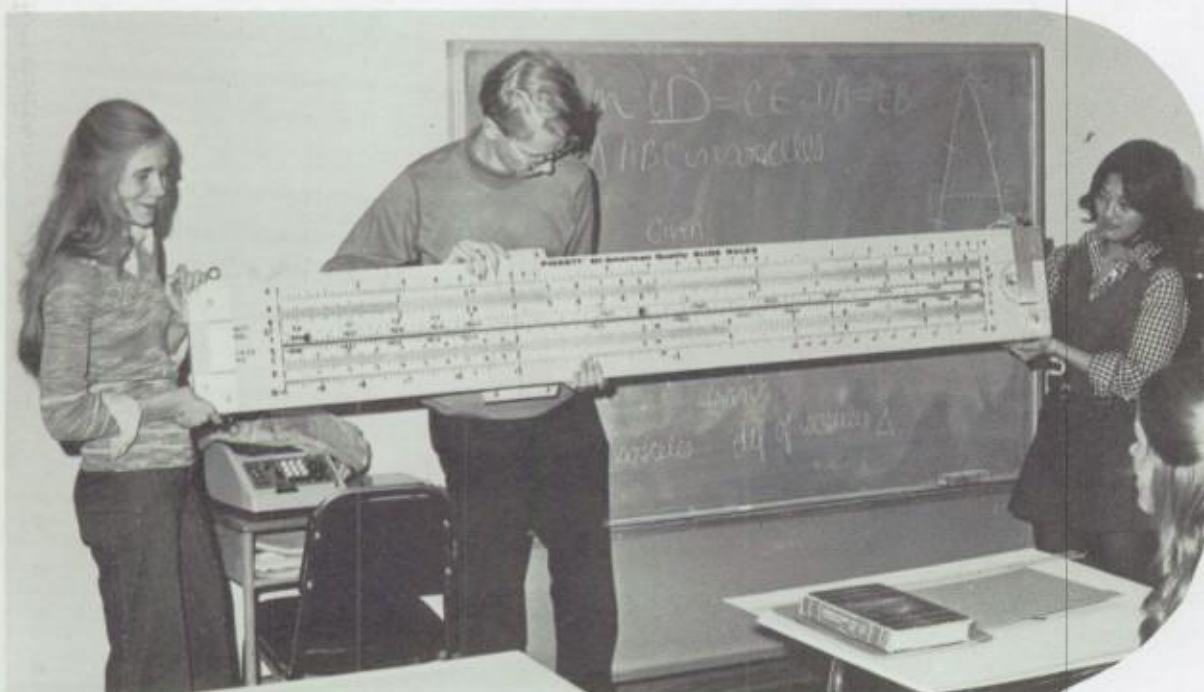

Panthers learned the pros and cons of different art forms and styles during the year in 15 Art and Crafts classes. To bring out an awareness of life, students challenged their thoughts and imagination in Mr. Steele's class by painting scenic beauty and wildlife on canvas with colorful oils and water pastels. Besides expressing themselves in sketching, Mr. Hunt's craft classes created original leather belts and decorative purses, ceramic cookie jars, wooden figurines and plastic key chains. They also spent one day a week working on visual cube drawing to acquire the techniques of neatness, accuracy and balance. Art and Crafts students displayed their year's accomplishments at the Living Arts Festival on May 12 to share their creations with others.

Business students competed in Vocational Career Day at West on February 16 with students from Highland, South, and East. Winners from West were: Lee Griffin first and Paul Christensen third in advanced type, Mickie Clark second in beginning type, and Jeff Sanders and Terry Peake in accounting. In spelling, second and third places went to West with Jeff Sanders, Sandra Pederson, and Judy Peterson on the second place team, and Janet Marchant, Shelley Katsos, and Mary Barney on the third place team. In advanced shorthand, Paula Christensen won first at 90 wpm. Trina Moore took first at 70 wpm, and Judy Beatty took third at 70 wpm. Four people tied for first at 50 wpm which were Cindy Nagasawa, Barbara Bradley, Cindy Hayes, and Julie Davis.

The business curriculum provided students with class to prepare them for jobs as secretaries, accountants, typists, and clerks. Shorthand classes filled with prospective secretaries, as typing students created skill in gaining accuracy and speed. Classes of marketing and accounting prepared for selling goods and keeping books balanced. Provided with many types of machines and offered office skills, the office practice class added knowledge to future workers in business.

Mathematical equations occupied Panthers in 27 math classes. Students worked on calculus, college algebra, and consumer math. Teachers impressed upon students the importance of skill with numbers in everyday living.

Stressing the basic skills, the Board of Education required that all students must pass a special math test. Starting this year, all freshman math teachers gave students an examination which they were to pass before graduation. The object of the test was to find out where student's weak spots were and to prepare them for graduation.

DESIGNERS ASSEMBLE CREATIVE INVENTIONS

Homemaking taught domestic skills to Panthers. Beginning cooks concentrated on meal preparation while working within a budget. The gourmet cooking classes specialized more on the level of cheese and spinach souffles. They also prepared sandwiches and punch to treat the Utah State Legislature on February 10 and hosted a luncheon for the teachers.

The freshman sewing classes learned the basic sewing skills such as seams, darts, and pressing techniques. The more advanced classes worked toward mastery of the skills of tailoring, children's wear, and working with stretch fabrics. Mrs. Shiba's career sewing class developed an assembly line, making Raggedy Ann and Andy's. They sold these dolls at $10 per pair and donated the money to the Children's Medical Center.

Bachelor Arts involved the male sex in Homemaking. Mrs. Thompson was overheard saying "Oh, those boys sew well!"

WHEAC was not a foreign name but the name of a new club at West, standing for West High Engineers and Architects Club. The club sponsored by Mr. Tollstrup was divided into three areas, Engineering, Architecture, and Interior Design.

Chosen as president of the club was Scott Durrant; vice president of Engineering was Mark Speight; vice president of Architecture Scott Hernandez; and Kathy Durrans was vice president of Interior Design. Secretary was Randall Maynes.

This work provided means for the students to experiment with tools, materials, and equipment of various kinds.

The Sterling Scholar program, sponsored by Deseret News and KSL radio and television, recognized seniors for scholastic and leadership excellence. Sterling Scholars prepared a portfolio of 35 pages, due March 14, which enclosed letters of recommendation, research papers, personal merits and awards, and report forms from department heads, teachers, and Dr. Fowler.

Deseret News interviewed each representative beginning March 22. Out of 100 points to qualify for a Sterling, 50 percent counted on grades and day-to-day performance. Citizenship and leadership comprised the other 50 percent. The winners of the Sterling Scholar competition received $250.

After compiling seniors' grade point averages from the ninth to twelfth grades, school officials announced the top 3% of the class of '77." Reaching a high of 4.000 and extending to a big 3.892, fifteen class members qualified for the Top 3%. Receiving a 4.000 grade point average, Judy Anderson, Julie Andersen, Gina Chow, and Sharon Stokes surpassed the other graduating students. Many students achieving the Top 3% competed for Sterling Scholars and participated in AP classes. Other seniors acquired high grade point averages but were not in the Top 3%.

Girls' and Boys' State took place last summer from June 6-12. Four girls ventured down to Southern Utah State College and twelve boys traveled to Utah State University in Logan.

Here students gathered from all over the state to learn more about the ways of the government. Model cities, made up of certain dorms, elected officers to govern it. County and state officers received votes on their prospective days. On city day, Weber city officials addressed the girls, and on county day Salt Lake County officials talked to them. State day featured Governor Rampton as speaker. All of the political personalities spoke on their respective duties. This gave Girl and Boy Staters an idea of the responsibilities they would undertake if they ran for and obtained the office.

Expressions of moods, emotions, and random thought captured on paper created and developed the year's literary magazine, West Winds. Under the direction of Mrs. Kristine Matthews, 16 members wrote short stories, essays, poems, and prose during the year until they were better acquainted with the work they did best. Then they perfected that form until it was acceptable for West Winds. All West students contributed their original work and talents to the magazine. Staff members read through all entries submitted and chose which work to be printed. The theme was "Salutation to The Dawn", picked from Sanskrit, a classical literary language of ancient India, because it expressed new beginnings and growth. Members made final decisions on entries at the end of the year while they edited, analyzed and compiled the final pages of West Winds.

RED AND BLACK EXHIBIT NEWSPAPER TALENT

Red and Black artist Dean Howell scans through books, hunting for creative ideas.

Reporting, proofreading, preparing layouts, taking pictures, and interviewing people, the Red and Black staff kept Panthers informed of West High happenings. Through their efforts, the studentbody received a monthly edition of the Red and Black.

New ideas and changes marked the 76-77 publication; the newspaper staff initiated "Teacher of the Month", sponsoring an article on a teacher chosen by the Student Senate. They selected Miss Maurine Haltiner in November, Mrs. Alyce Shiba in December, and Mr. Boyd Bronson in January. "Pride and Prejudice" at West gave students an opportunity to express their opinions on vandalism, remodeling, school spirit, and stomps. The Student Senate chose the monthly spokesmen from each class.

The Red and Black staff made up their own layouts in contrast to previous years when the publisher prepared them. They suffered from a shortage of staff, but with the assistance of Mrs. Ann Heaton, sponsor, they accomplished their responsibilities.

The school received a special election issue informing students of the winners of studentbody offices for 77-78.

"as we were and are to become . . .", the theme for the 1977 yearbook, occupied the twenty Panther staff members. Everyone worked on individual assignments but combined and performed as a whole. Two hundred and twenty-four pages received hours of attention from the staff to make a complete chronology and permanent record of the school year. Some might have thought the favorite pastime of the Panther staff was to stay after school. They spent many hours in room 206 captioning pictures, proofreading copy blocks, drawing layouts, and printing pictures. The Taylor Publishing Company in Covina, California, printed the yearbook and received from 32 to 60 pages on each of the five deadlines. Group pictures posed a challenge to photographers. They arranged a time and place and tried to get everyone there. From the IBM building to the State Capitol, and several places in between, cameras snapped group pictures. Editor, Kathy Durrans even traveled to Provo to get pictures for the theme pages. The months of preparation paid off when the editors presented the yearbook to Dr. Fowler and studentbody on June 2. Students then stayed at school and collected autographs to retain memories.

DEBATERS RESEARCH FOR RELEVANT MATERIAL

Debaters met with Mrs. Matthews during second or sixth period every day to discuss and prepare for the debate question of the year, which was resolved: That a comprehensive program of penal reform should be adopted throughout the United States. Debaters won practice meets with Kearns and Granite and also attended a variety of tournaments at BYU, U of U, and Weber State. On February 11 and 12 they went to Arizona State in Tempe for a meet. On March 2, eight debate teams from West High School met at Highland for the regional tournament with South, Cottonwood, and Highland. Members from the debate classes also participated in the State Tournament on March 25 and 26 at BYU. Several students won trophies in the tournaments: Stephanie Spafard placed 3rd for Impromptu Speaking in the Portia Douglas Tournament. Blanche Narcomey won a trophy in the finals of Expository Speaking at the BYU Cougar Classic Tournament. Bryan Case and Kent Whipple won a trophy in the semi-finals of Oxford Consolation Debate at the BYU Cougar Classic.

DANCERS AWAIT PERFORMANCE, MARCH 10, 11

"Dance: A Celebration" was the theme of the annual spring dance concert, held on March 10 and 11. The Dance Club members started preparing their numbers in October, 1976. In January, four dance majors from the University of Utah came to watch a performance, critiquing dances and eliminating some altogether. This made the dance concert more enjoyable for the audience. Each choreographer selected her own music, movements, and costumes, and was responsible for the completion of the dance. The officers worked to make a great dance concert with live music supplied by the West High Stage Band. To help pay for costumes, presents, and parties, the members paid monthly dues of $2.00. Miss Robyn Graham experienced her first year at West as sponsor of the Dance Club.

EARLY MORNING PRACTICES PERFECT MARCHES

Sixty Pep Clubbers started their Junior year in the early mornings at 5:00 a.m. beginning August 5th to practice and perfect their presentation march for September 10. Promoting school spirit, they cheered at all varsity games and provided marches during half-time for entertainment. Pep Club team-treated players the night before each football and basketball game to arouse excitement for the following day. Homecoming united Pep Club with last year's 75-76 Pep Club as they practiced and performed their march for alumni and Highland. "Just You and Me" set the mood for the Christmas dance sponsored by Pep Club at the Capitol Rotunda on December 11, Frosty colors of maroon and silver decorated the festive Christmas tree with a bit of romantic yuletide spirit. Pep Club sold Bright of America products and Fernwood candy to obtain extra money to help pay for uniforms and bus transportation to away games. On April 28, Pep Club competed against the seven surrounding schools of Region 3 at Skyline in the Pep Club Fair. Participants mingled at a tea before the event and wished each other good luck. The candlelight dinner in May marked the end of another year with blowing out candles and saying good-byes as Pep Club pledged in the new official 77-78 Pep Club.

With curlers in her hair, Lisa Evans points out the correct steps.

CHEERLEADERS

Getting an early start on June 27, the six cheerleaders, consisting of three boys and three girls, started the year with three days at Sherwood Hills. Learning new cheers and perfecting the old, flipping and flopping, yelling and screaming, proved to be an exhausting ending on June 29. Meeting first period, the cheerleaders worked at perfecting their routines, teaching new cheers to students and preparing pep assemblies under the direction of Mr. Denison. With the help of Pep Club, cheerleaders filled game days with cheering in the halls for away games and preparing pep assemblies for home games. They also invited clubs to present assemblies.

Venice Amador happily demonstrates to Drill Team a classy movement.

Drill Team met during the early hours of the summer months starting at 5:30 a.m. when 14 girls practiced and worked on head flips, jump splits, dance steps and sharp precise movements. Traveling to Utah State for a week from July 10 to 15, the team learned different types of marches consisting of military, prop, parade, and dance. A competition march held between the various schools who attended from the Western states concluded the week to see what the girls had accomplished. On August 13 Drill Team also spent the day at the University of Utah in another competition with the same schools. At the presentation march on September 10 they performed for the studentbody dressed in uniforms of maroon skirts, plaid vests with white turtle-necks, and black boots. Showing their spirit, they marched at home games and at Homecoming decorated a section of the fence with red and black crepe paper. Black boots standing on a ram's head portrayed Highland and exclaimed: "Hey Rams, better watch out cause West High's Drill Team is going to walk all over you."

Dressed in red corduroy jump suits with black neck scarves and booties on their feet, the Wrestlerettes cheered wrestlers on to many tournament championships. They honored the matmen by decorating their lockers, supporting them at every match, and treating them with popsicles and fruit after each meet. Shari Kendall and Lora Pulley led the group by planning meetings after school to help members learn cheers and make posters. A popular cheer that the group used was, "Wrestle, wrestle, twist them like a pretzel!" When tournaments came up throughout the year, Wrestlerettes attended these matches early in the morning to watch other schools perform. When West came out on the floor the Wrestlerettes stood by the mats and cheered them on to a win. These matches were day-long events and lasted until ten at night. The State finals came on February 24-26. The girls prepared to watch and cheer West Wrestlers on to a State victory.

AWARDS COMMITTEE — Don Johnson, Grace MacKay, Julia Erickson, Loren Bohner.

Senior students who accumulated 30 or more award points in extracurricular clubs such as publications, athletic teams, and student government, attended the Awards Banquet on Thursday, May 26. The Awards Committee, under the direction of Mrs. MacKay and Miss Haltiner, organized the annual affair held at the Lafayette Ballroom in the Hotel Utah. The committee of faculty and students rewarded seniors for their three years of achievement.

The Commencement Committee arranged for Autrey

Brothers to order graduation announcements on January 25, 26, and 27. They also helped with the measuring of seniors for caps and gowns on February 22, 23, and 24. Commencement rehearsals came with the assistance of appointed faculty members and senior class officers. Finally the time arrived that all had been waiting for, Graduation Day, June 1. After the exercises, the Committee with the PTSA sponsored a parent-senior reception in the cafeteria.

WAG SENDS VALENTINES TO SWEETHEARTS

Freshmen orientation, elections, and initiation of the new members started an active year for WAG, West Associated Girls. For Homecoming the girls planned for the fence decorating contest, luncheon with former WAG members and, to culminate the week, the Homecoming dance. The dance, "Yesterday Once More", took place in the cafeteria on October 2, with silver and orange brightening the atmosphere. Rosewood accompanied the dance.

West Associated Girls sponsored a Sub-For-Santa project during Christmas time. The WAG members sold calendars to help raise money, while some donated toys or clothes they had at home, to help give Christmas spirit to some families. They also made stuffed animals and dolls which they donated to the Mental Retardation Association for their Christmas bazaar.

Singing Valentines came around February 14, giving WAG members a chance to show off their vocal talents in singing love songs.

Theresa shows Cheryl and Claudia the method of designing the singing valentines.

WHAM worked with E-Board and co-sponsored many stumps throughout the year. They helped at dances by setting up chairs and decorating the gym. They also contributed during Spirit Week and, in addition, promoted the Western Roundup dance. The group consisted of Senior Bob Price as president, with a freshman, sophomore and junior class representative to help him with problems. Four ROTC and athletic representatives completed the WHAM roster.

LDS and University Medical Center served as informational and learning centers for the Medical Services students. Each Wednesday and Friday they traveled to these hospitals working in designated areas. Eight girls selected as nurse aides worked at the University gaining experience in the medical field. Other members served as volunteers at the LDS Hospital. Sponsored by Mrs. Hagen, the Club officers Susie Ramos, president; Debbie Birdsall, secretary; and Diana Harris, historian, organized projects consisting of the vital signs clinic held each year at West and Christmas activities when members took plants to patients and presented a skit in the pediatric ward of the University Medical Center Hospital.

Looking beyond high school graduation, the Future Business Leaders of America worked to make their careers more secure by taking preparatory courses for business opportunities of tomorrow. On October 28 a professional secretary, Mrs. Darlene Cazier, came to West and expressed her views on the daily routines of her field. Members saved their money preparing to travel to San Francisco and take part in the workshops of business held during the week of November 18-22. As an annual event, FBLA students planned for the Business Open House held during Business Week, February 14-18. Students demonstrated office equipment and business skills they had mastered. After competing in the areas of machine operation, typing, and shorthand skills, members met at the Utah Technical College in Provo for the State Leadership Conference, April 15 and 16.

Drama creates pantomiming ideas with execution of locomotion.

When not at rehearsals or preparing for "The Odd Couple" and the one-act spring play, Drama Club members studied different acting types such as pantomime and improvisation. This helped prepare them for State Competition on April 30 and May 1 at Weber State College. The Utah Chapter of the Thespian Society arranged a dinner for February 28 in the Cottonwood High School main foyer. Each school provided 15 minutes of entertainment. Richard Russell, Warren Bittner, Mike Roberts, and Gary Mori prepared a comic routine for the dinner, but at the last minute they decided to abandon their skit because a group of professional entertainers planned to do the same thing. So for the time allotted to West, Richard Russell sang "Nothing" from the Broadway musical "A Chorus Line." Richard Russell, senior representative; Mike Roberts, junior representative; Stephanie Spafford, sophomore representative; Scott Perry, freshmen representative; and Kelly Wanberg, historian served as officers. Mr. Gary Walton and Miss Jill German sponsored Drama Club.

Promptly at 9:05 am, Panthers heard the morning news on WHTV for the first time in West's history. The reporters went out to get news stories, which the writers composed. Typists then prepared a script for the announcers. Students arranged commercials in advance. The staff conducted interviews in the studio or with the Quick-Cam which saved a lot of time and effort because it was so compact and portable, enabling interviews and photographing highlights of school events and activities.

Surprised, Mrs. Shiba looks up from ironing a pattern.

The FHA officers sponsored an exchange program inviting officers from other schools to see how West's chapter operated and what activities they participated in, such as the making and selling of the Raggedy Ann dolls to buy a respirator and the Living Arts on May 10. The officers, Margie Baird, president; Julie Davis, vice president; Linda Martinez, publicity/historian; Jennifer Lloyd, treasurer; Marjorie Nelson, sophomore representative; and Tracy Cowburn, freshmen representative worked with Mrs. Alyce Shiba in their responsibilities.

UNDERSTANDING PEOPLE UNDERSTAND OTHERS

Sandy Fechner and Tony Garcia relax as they share mutual problems.

Members of the UP-Program evaluate the home room guidance presentation.

Understanding People became a new program at West. Counselors Joyce Roberts, Dee Anderson, and Lori Hargraves, who sponsored the program, interviewed students and looked for their potentials to becoming an "upper." Once in the program, Miss Terri Holleran taught the "uppers" how to counsel and help others. At the beginning of the second semester, UP students started counseling other Panthers. The theory behind the UP Program was that students would be more apt to discuss their problems with other students rather than with adults. Students would understand the problems better because they were closer to the problem in age.

Sue Mendenhall and Todd Liddle ponder the poverty in Berundy.

Representing the countries of Libya and Berundy, the Model United Nations progressed during the year on problems facing both countries and the world. They wrote resolutions on hot issues relating to these countries and sent them to the General Assembly Board of High School UN Clubs. Highlighting their efforts in scrutinizing and discussing the diplomacy of world relations, on May 5, 6, 7 the members attended the Model UN General Assembly held each year in the Special Events Center on the U of U campus.

On game days, posters lined the doorways to the foyer saying "Drive the Rams to the Highlands", "Stump the Titans", or "Brand the Colts". All competitors against the Panthers received such publicity. The members of the Booster Club wrote captions and painted pictures to match. The Club met as a regularly scheduled class every second period. They worked on their posters continually until the game day to boost school spirit and push the Panther teams on to victory. Mr. Steele, the club sponsor, assisted the members with ideas and art skills.

Junior Choir practices "Oh Holy Night" for the Temple Square lighting.

Junior Choir strove to improve their voices and sightreading ability during fifth period under the direction of Mr. James Maher. Officers of the class were Mike Roberts, president; Dean Howell, vice-president; and Claudia Fisher, secretary. At the Christmas concert and performances at Valley Fair, Cottonwood and Fashion Place malls and the Capitol, the Choir sang "Jingle Bells", "Calypso", "Away in a Manger", "O' Holy Night" and "Come Let Us Pray". They spread Christmas spirit to many shoppers as they gathered around to listen. After Christmas vacation, voice testing for the 77-78 a cappella and chorale was underway with Mr. Maher stressing note value, blending of voices and harmonizing together. Some songs chalked up by the members were "My Flowered Beauty", "Jubilate Deo", "Mexican Psalm" and "Cry Out a Happy Cry."

85 A CAPPELLA SINGERS VOCALIZE WITH

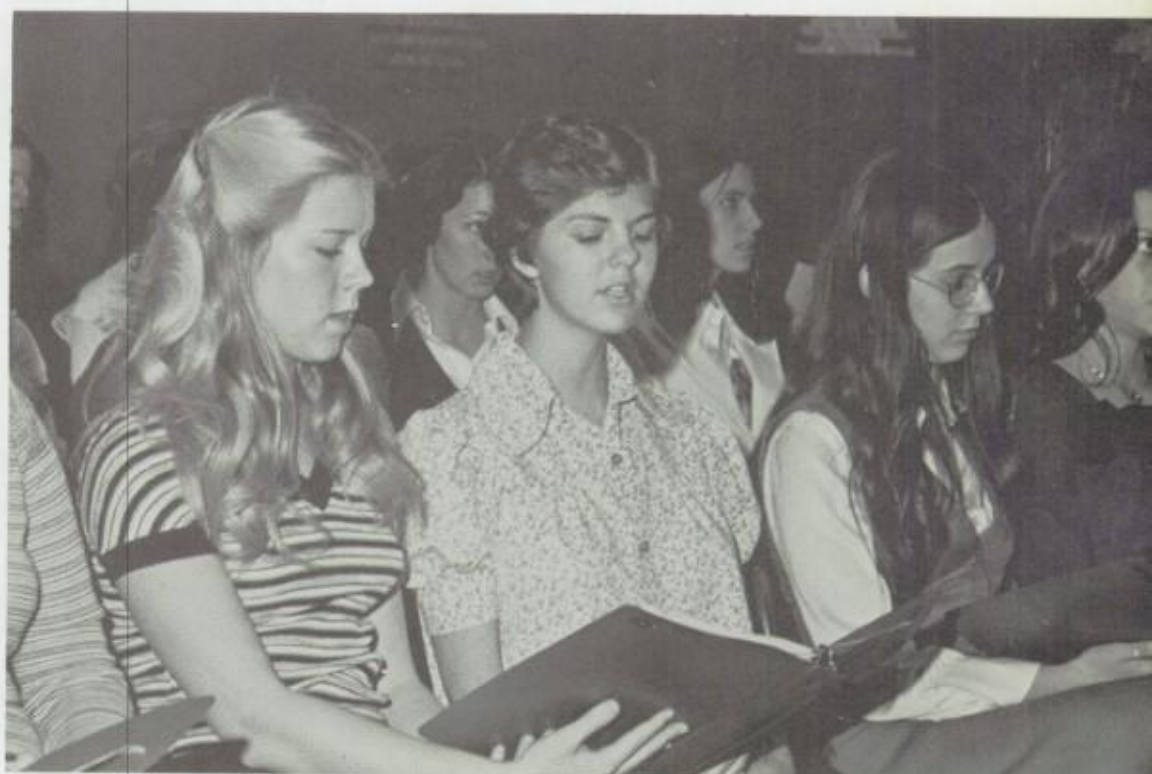

Eighty-five members of A Cappella dressed in red and black began the year with the challenge to improve their intonation, sight-reading, and expression. They worked to perfect many Christmas songs like "Ring Those Christmas Bells", "Deck the Halls", and "Carol of the Bells". They attended places like the Festival of Trees, Kiwanis Club, and sang for a special performance at West on December 19, when they invited students and the public to enjoy the spirit of Christmas music. Entertaining on the Sabbath day, A Cappella sang in many Catholic, Baptist and LDS chapels. They performed songs like "The Almighty Reigns" as well their theme song, "Now the Day is Over", which branched off from a combination of two other songs, "Good-Bye Medley" and "God Be With You." Mr. James Maher worked through the year with these musicians to make their singing experience more enjoyable and educational.

CHORALE

Small children gathered together as 29 singers from Chorale sang music of joy and love at the Children's Hospital. With A Cappella, Chorale performed 63 times during December on Christmas programs. They sang selections such as "Make We Joy Now in This Feast," "At Christmas Time", and "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town". Chorale ended their last performance in the Hotel Utah with the spring festival when they competed against other schools. Songs that they presented included: "When I Fall in Love", "You Make Me Feel So Young," and "You and Me Against the World".

Studying their parts, Chorale concentrates on hitting the correct note exactly.

Chorale pitches in to polish up their performing repertoire.

Performing their first concert of the 76-77 year, Stage Band met with others schools to present their music at the Cottonwood Invitational, December 3. The eighteen members joined during fifth period to practice songs like "Nice-n-Juicy," "King's Eye", and "Blue for Poland". They prepared through the winter months for spring concerts. On March 10 and 11, Stage Band accompanied a few numbers for Dance Club's performance. On March 22, members performed with Highland, Skyline, South, East, Olympus, Granite and Cottonwood in hopefully qualifying for the State Band Festival on April 22. MUSICIANS REACH OUT FOR RHYTHM, TEMPO

Subdued in playing the trombone, Steve Wunderly steadily reads his music making sure of the beat.

Presenting numbers like "Proclamations", "Divergents", and "Festivo", Concert Band began with 45 instrumentalists under the direction of Mr. Darol Dennison. On February 10, members split up into woodwind and brass choirs and presented solo ensembles at Cottonwood High. Concert band drove to Idaho on February 11-14, traveling first to Yellowstone Park for a day of snowmobiling. On the 13th and 14th they rode to Rexburg and examined the flood area. Later that day they performed at Ricks College and at a Junior High. The Region 3 music festival, April 20 at Highland High prepared the band for the spring festival, May 1.

To stimulate Panther spirit among the student-body, Pep Band attended every home football and basketball game to play cheers such as "Rock and Roll", "When Those Panthers Go Marching In", and "Hurrah for West High." At pep assemblies and games the band accompanied the students and fans by playing the "Victory Song" and "The Star Spangled Banner" after the presentation of West's school colors and the American flag. The beat of the drum and the blare of Pep Band horns welcomed Panther teams to the grid-iron or the basketball floor. Gordon Pullan assisted Mr. Denison by occasionally leading the group.

Combining with East, West's Indian club held a Halloween party in the American Indian Center on October 22. They learned the sign language to the song "Go-my-Son", followed by dancing to records. Meeting every Tuesday afternoon, the officers Evangeline Dooley, Juanita Tsosie, Virginia Etsitty, Rosita Padilla, and sponsor Bimmer Jones, planned activities for the "Nayo" club, Native American Youth Association.

The Chicano Club sponsored a Sub-for-Santa project for five families with the help of Kennacott Copper, who donated $550 to the Club to help buy clothes, food and toys. On May 5, the Club celebrated "Mexican Independence Day." In honor of their independence, they held a dinner at the La Morena, inviting the school to come and celebrate.

CREWS TUNE-IN, LIGHT-UP "ODD COUPLE"

Thirty six Panthers received special letters from Dr. Fowler announcing their acceptance into the National Honor Society. In order to qualify for the Society, each applicant must be enrolled for four academic classes plus retain a minimum grade point average of 3.5 beginning in the ninth grade. Students must also qualify in the area of citizenship and leadership. An inactive member with a GPA lower than 3.5 would not be considered an active member until his average is brought back up to the requirement level. Interested students could apply when they received their report card each term. Miss Maurine Haltiner and Mrs. Julia Erickson handled the applications.

Twenty-one Office Aids assisted Mrs. Sacco to handle the phone switchboard, run off dittoes, handle withdrawal slips, help with schedule changes and computer cards, and deliver messages for the secretaries. Requirements were to be on time, have good grades, and be willing to do the jobs assigned. Mrs. Sacco said, "The aids are a big help to the secretaries and to office functions." Mrs. Barrett had students prepare computer cards and report cards. Mrs. DeLaMare directed the attendance office with aids to post attendance, run progress reports, and type or file. The aids collected and processed the absentee cards every day. They handled referrals, attendance letters, home excuses, blue slips, and requests for homework. She had 28 aids to assist her. The office aids also helped the counselors by keeping a schedule for them and served in a receptionist type capacity for the assistant principals.

Under the direction of Mr. Sheridan Prince and Mrs. Marty Waldbillig, 42 Media Aids checked out books, put books on the shelves, helped with reference books, numbered and catalogued new books, and assisted in finding research materials. Some aids made graphics materials and some assisted Mrs. Hadley in running the TV control area for video tapes to classrooms. They also checked audio visual equipment in and out like tape recorders, film strips, pre-recorded cassettes and media kits. In addition, they collected fines and opened conference rooms. Aids went to classrooms to adjust out-of-tune TV's. At the second semester they checked Media Center Privilege Cards required of students who used the Library Learning Center. The media coordinators selected some of the aids but most volunteered for the job. They usually worked only one class period each day, receiving one-half credit each semester for helping in the Center. There were six aids per period enrolled.

Placing five men in the State finals ended the season for West High's wrestlers. The Wrestling team placed 2nd in Region and 3rd in State. Ray Gonzales (98) and Doug Shimizu (126) took first place; George Dunn (105), Todd Solorio (132) and Bob Lewis (138) all took second places.

The Football team had a 9 win, 2 loss record and were Region 3 runnerup and took 3rd place in the State finals. All State football players were Chuck Webb, Bill Meske, and Rick Lawrence with Doug Murakami, Taryn Culverwell and Danny Mangum getting second team honors.

The Basketball team improved from only 2 wins in 7 starts at the beginning of the season to 4 wins and 2 losses in the second half and earned a state birth in the tournaments with a 6 win, 8 loss record.

The Girls' Volleyball and Basketball teams both went to the State tournaments and the Gymnastics team was also competitive.

Contests, dances, assemblies and marches took place during Homecoming week September 27 to October 2. Panther lick-out and arm wrestling began the week's events with students exercising their tongues and toning-up their muscles. On Tuesday September 28 Panthers met on the football field to participate in the dunking machine, three-legged and wheel barrow races. Cheerleaders subjected themselves to sit inside the dunking booth and prepare for a bath. Hopscotch recalled childhood days, and the spirit of students wearing old uniforms kept Homecoming week alive. The morning activities of October 1 began the traditional fence decorating contest when Debate placed first in the judging and Chorale took second. Performing their final march during the alumni assembly, the 75-76 Pep Club began their march by stepping down from the bleachers to entertain Panther fans. Liberated powder puff football players showed their tactical plays as students crowded on to the bleachers to watch and laugh. "Go, fight, win" was the cry of Panther voices as West's football team played Highland and came on top with a victory. During halftime entertainment the 75-76 and 76-77 pep clubs lined up on the field to supply Panthers and alumni with precise formations. The Wag dance "Yesterday Once More" ended Homecoming week. Holding it in the cafeteria Saturday night October 2, Wag decorated with autumn colors and shellacked leaves and served a cooling refreshment of lime slush and cookies. These activities of Homecoming week will be remembered by West Panthers.

Thanks to the cheerleaders, E-Board, football and basketball games, the administration, and a number of other organizations, the schools routine had a change because of assemblies. Thank goodness for assemblies! Wicked witches, personality impersonations, love potions, helping the Panther catch the spirit of state; a re-creation of "Welcome Back Kotter," and cheers illustrated the work that went into school-produced entertainment such as the Pep and E-Board assemblies. Some assemblies were brought to us from the outside world: A racer from the Indianapolis 500 advised Panthers to use safe driving habits, and John Goddard came in March to share his experiences in South America. The southern Utah State University brought the Shakespearean assembly which showed the styles of the tenth through fifteenth centuries. The ladies' gowns portrayed the elegance of dress in the upper class. Gentlemen wore tights with pantaloons and blousy shirts with capes.

West High qualified for the State 4-A football tournament by placing second in Region 3, losing only one game and rolling up an overall eight win — one loss record in pre-season and region games. The first State quarter final game was against Roy, rated number two in 4-A classification. West won by a score of 13-7. The semi-final game pitted West against Provo. West was favored in this game but lost by a close score of 10-7. The biggest and most controversial play of the game was when the Provo quarterback lofted a pass for the end zone. The intended Provo receiver fell down and the ball hit him and bounced up in the air straight to a Provo player who surprisingly grabbed it for the game winning touchdown. From many angles the ball appeared to take a bounce off the astroturf and wound up in the receivers hand. Another controversy was: Can two offensive players touch the ball and score a touchdown without a defensive player touching the ball before the second offensive player catches it?

The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders sponsored the Halloween Assembly before the Provo game in which Mr. Maher was put under a spell by a love potion and started to kiss everyone in the crowd. the PLAY '77

While Oscar and Felix prepare for their dates, Felix is worried about the dinner he is cooking.

Drama club produced "The Odd Couple" on December 2, 3, and 4 under the direction of Gary Walton. Warren Bittner portrayed Oscar Madison and Richard Russell played Felix Unger. The long hours of rehearsal and preparation began October 29. The cast painted the set and rented, bought, or sewed their own costumes. Local theatres helped supply the play with props. Dan Daily, who has played the part of Oscar for twenty or more years, came to see the play while he was in Salt Lake acting at the Gaslight Theatre. He visited with the Drama Club members about the play.

Oscar Madison, an easy going, sloppy person, lives in a messy eight room apartment. In contrast, his poker friend, Felix Unger, is extremely neat and clean. Felix is kicked out of his house and is left with no possessions or a place to stay. Taking pity on his friend, Oscar lets Felix move in with him. Felix keeps things so tidy and cooks meals so perfectly that Oscar tries to liven things up a bit by lining them up with two divorcees from upstairs. Felix ruins the night by crying in front of the two women and they accept Felix as an angel and Oscar as unfeeling. After this Oscar can stand it no longer. Once again Felix is kicked out; but part of his personality is left which shows when Oscar makes the poker players use coasters.

Spring greeted the studentbody and reminded everyone that the 76-77 year was to end in only a few months. March opened with the Dance Concert presented on the 31st and April 1st Club members, with the help of their sponsor, Robyn Graham, choreographed and perfected their own style of modern dance. On the night of March 26 the E-Board dance set couples in motion as they swayed around the dance floor in the gym. The life syle and nature of South America came to West on March 28, with the John Goddard assembly. He narrated slides showing students his expedition in the southern continent.

ASW nominations offered underclassmen opportunity to campaign in the primaries held on April 1 with class officer finals ending on April 15. Junior Choirs from other schools mingled together at West on April 15, and following spring recess on April 7 and 8, A Cappella visited East on the 14th. The week of April 25 through the 30 brought Western Round-Up once again to West. Students participated in building country stores and painting signs. Couples picnicked and then returned to the "Old West" where the "hitchin post" and "saloon" highlighted the evening.

Living Arts on May 12 providing students an opportunity to display their various projects constructed during the year. Acquiring 30 or more award points during their three years at West entitled each senior to attend the Awards Banquet on May 26 at the Hotel Utah. Students escaped school bells on the 27th for a change in the familiar routine by going to Lagoon. Panther 76-77, presented to Dr. Fowler at the Awards Assembly by editors Kathy Durrans and Mardi DeLaMare brought the year to its final closing. Students returned to homerooms to claim long awaited yearbooks and then lined the halls to write farewells to friends.

June 1 concluded twelve long years of anticipation, struggle, and achievement for seniors. Mixed emotions arose in their hearts as the class of 77 entered the doors of the Tabernacle.

Clutching the football with all his strength and looking up, a Panther griddier awaits the final outcome of a play for West.

West rushes out of the locker room, on to the field, ready and psyched to stomp Provo in the State tournament.

WEST PRESENTS ROUGH, TOUGH COMPETITION

With two minutes left in the game, West punted to Skyline. On the punt return, Skyline fumbled, but a Skyline player picked it up and ran it in for a touchdown. "The Skyline game was one of the closest games and a tough one to lose," said Coach Don Johnson.

West's season, however, was much better with a 9-win, 2-loss record. West ended second in the region and third in State. The Panthers went into the State Tournament and beat Roy 13-6. They then lost a close, hard fought contest to Provo 10-7. "We just played a flat game against Provo and never got going," commented Coach Johnson. Players from West that made All-State were Chuck Webb, Bill Meske, and Rick Lawrence. Danny Mangum, Taryn Culverwell, and Doug Murakami all received second team honors.

The JV team played their games the day before the Varsity on the opposite field the Varsity played on. The JV team scrimmaged the Varsity as a team and learned the Varsity plays for next year. "The sophomore football team ended the season improved over last year," said Coach Miner. Sophomores practiced beginning August 1 and the sessions lasted for two to two-and-one-half hours twice a day. Graig Child and Randy Schrieter both played Varsity. Jeff Titmus, Glen Bell, Mark Maldonado, Mike Mele, Neil Draper and Jim Juenger were also consistent performers.

They ended the region season with 6 wins in their last 8 games reaching as far as the State semi-finals and placing 6th in the tournament. Brent Shingleton made the Deseret News Prep of the Week.

MATMEN CAPTURE 3rd PLACE STATE TITLE

Wrestler Mike Mele gets a fast take down against the man in the iron mask.

Bob Lewis at 138 pounds dominates a Titan grappler during the dual meet at Olympus.

Five Panthers qualified for the state wrestling tournament February 24, 25, and 26. Two West wrestlers took first place, Ray Gonzales (98) and Doug Shimizu (126). Three who placed second in State were George Dunn (105), Todd Solorio (132), and Bob Lewis (138). The West team placed 3rd in State with Olympus taking 1st with 140 points, Brighton 2nd with 108½, and West with 107.

The West team placed second in region 3, losing only to Olympus, and beating East, South, Highland, Skyline, Granite, Cottonwood very handily. Two-time state champ Doug Shimizu said, "Wrestling is 80% confidence and if you don't believe in yourself, you won't win."

The wrestling season started November 1, with daily workouts from 2:30 to 5:00. Weigh-ins were at 5:30 and matches at 7:30. West wrestlers usually starve one night, eat the next, and starve on match days. West won the Skyview, Box Elder, and Weber tournaments by decisive scores and won all but one dual meet. "West could have taken State, but injuries at key times hurt us," coach Don Holtry stated.

JV TEAM SHOWS POWER ON BALL DIAMOND

Coach Don Johnson encourages a West player who safely slides into third for a triple against South.

"Hitting and pitching were our strong points in the 76 season," said Coach Don Johnson. The West Baseball team entered the State tournament as the second place team from Region Three. Some of the clutch hitters were Steve Marshall, Benny Groce and Mike Vlamakis. Pitcher Alan Ewer had the lowest ERA, the least number of runs scored against him, with Jim Jensen and Marty Hernandez also pitching well, according to Coach Johnson. West entered the tournament and lost two consecutive games to Box Elder and Hillcrest, thus facing elimination.

By April 5, 1977, the 77 team had won all their games, which included victories over Highland, Bingham, Judge, and South.

Birdies, pars and bogies had West's Golf Team practicing during seventh period and after school at the Rose Park Golf Course. They worked to improve their putting and driving ability. The twelve golfers became part of the fairways and greens during fall months, perfecting form and swing. The golf season started September 21 with a meet against Highland at West under the direction of Coach Calevas. The Golf team was unable to participate in the State Tournament held at Mountain Dell on October 27 because of being one stroke short with only Cory Mackintosh qualifying for State. Ending the season, the Panther Golfers brought home a fifth place title in the Regional competition at Wasatch Golf Course on October 18.

Combined with individual and team effort, the track team performed in events ranging from the javelin and shotput throw to hurdles, pole vaulting, dashes, and mile runs. The team attended the Weber State Invitational on April 16 and the Nate Long Invitational held April 23.

Coached by Mr. Zember, Mr. Godfrey, and Mr. Avila, they competed in the city track meet held April 27. For their last invitational meet of the year, the team traveled to BYU on Friday and Saturday April 29, 30. The Regional track meet took place May 5, 6. Later that month on May 13, 14, they participated in the annual State track competition.

SNOW, ICE, TEASE, ENCOURAGE, SPORTSMEN

Unusual winter weather conditions stifled the interest of the Ski Club members this year. Because of the lack of snow until February 1, skiers went on few afternoon trips. Finally by March 2, Snowbird and Alta recorded snow depths of 80 inches with Brighton receiving 72 and Park City 70. Skiers decided to take advantage of the conditions, traveling up to Snowbird to test the newly laid snow. Their sponsor Mr. Prince, made arrangements with the resorts and rented buses for transportation.

Hockey started in early November at the Salt Palace, Hygeia, and Bountiful Rink with practices from 10:00 to 11:00 p.m., four days a week depending on the schedule of the Golden Eagles. They played twelve games and had a 7 win, 5 loss record. West's Panthers took 4th place in a 12 team division and also qualified for the playoffs. West's hockey isn't fully supported as yet because hockey hasn't been accepted a high school sport, and each player had to pay $72.00 for registration. Fighting in games drew a game misconduct plus a one game suspension.

Seven Varsity netters played matches held on Tuesday and Thursday and had to accept challenges from lower members of the team, which totaled fourteen members. Challenges consisted of players trying to beat a Varsity member for his spot. They practiced seventh periods until 5 p.m. For a team victory they had to win three of the five matches played consisting of three singles and two doubles. Region matches were at Liberty Park, May 13-14. West High was competitive considering most of the other schools play year around at one of the tennis clubs.

Smashing strikes and spares captured a first place title for Boys' Varsity and Junior Varsity bowlers, who remained undefeated the entire season. Competitors from East, South, and Highland couldn't stop West's bowling teams from achieving high scores and receiving the Region honor. Rancho Bowling Lanes served as home alley for the Panthers and practices on Mondays. They developed strength in muscles and concentration in controlling accurate movements. The league games took place on Wednesdays against the three other schools, when players bowled a total of six weeks with six players on each team. Top Varsity bowlers were Kevin Adair who gained the high average of 179 and Johann Defa acquiring the high game of 233 points.

CROSS COUNTRY RUNS ON

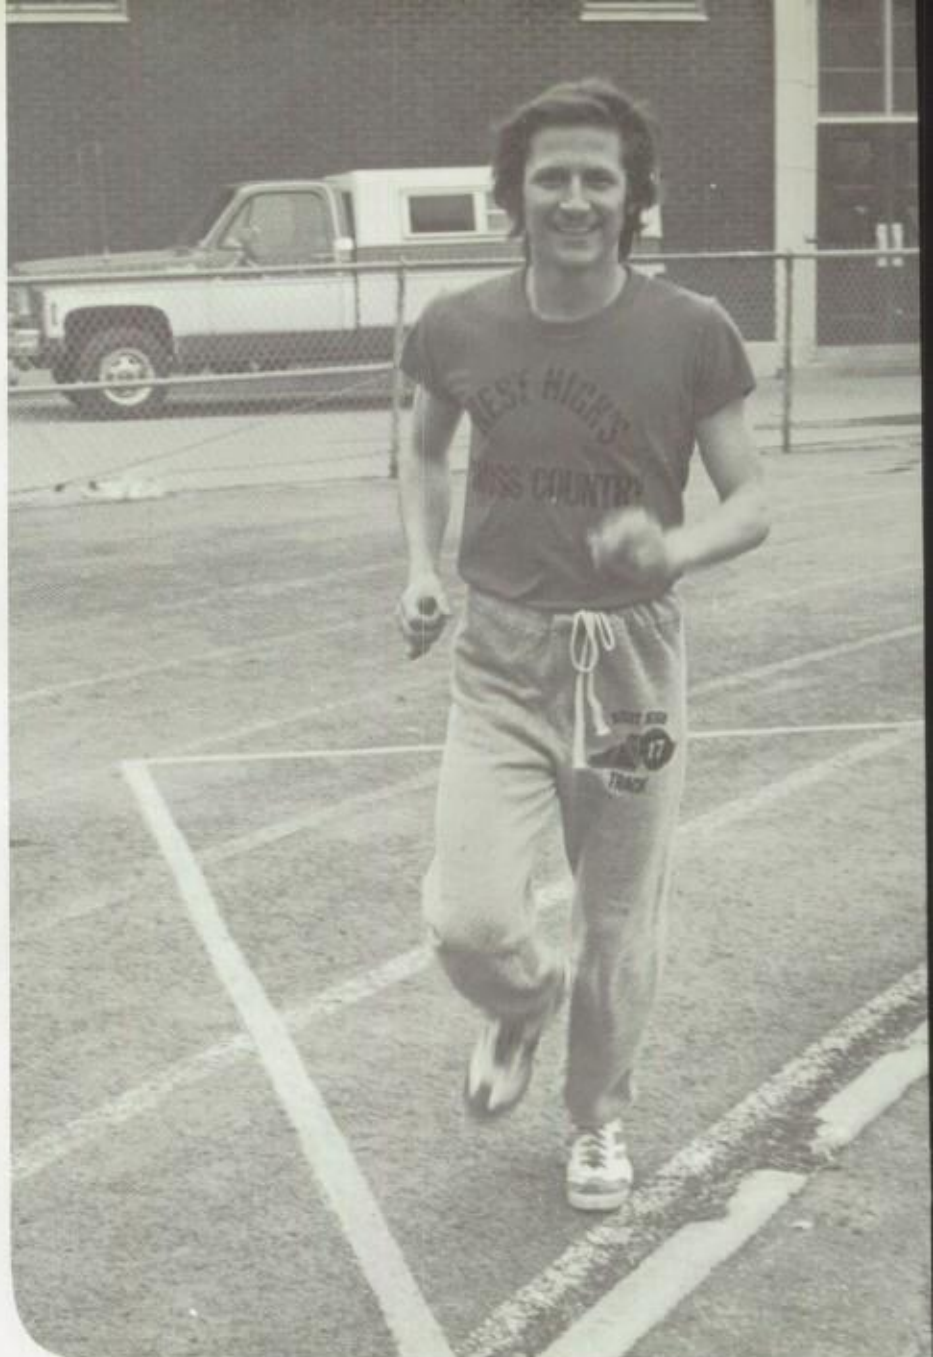

Their goal to run the three mile in less than fourteen minutes. This challenge went out to the members of the Cross Country Team. Practice began at 2:30 by running the track or jogging through City Creek Canyon.

On October 13 the Cross Country Region Meet held at Sugar House Park placed Floyd Browning 11th. During the year he received the fastest time in the school's history. The sophomores, led by Kerry Kendall, Kelly Kendall, Lance Thompson, and Sandy Fechner, took third.

Other outstanding tracksters, Mark Speight and Kevin Waters, received times of 4.46 and 4.57. The entire team improved 45 per cent per man in Regional meets.

Giving each other competition, Ted and Mark race to the finish line.

Running every day seventh period keeps Ted in shape.

MORE SOCCER TO YOU, PANTHERS

After making the perfect kick, David shows a sign of accomplishment.

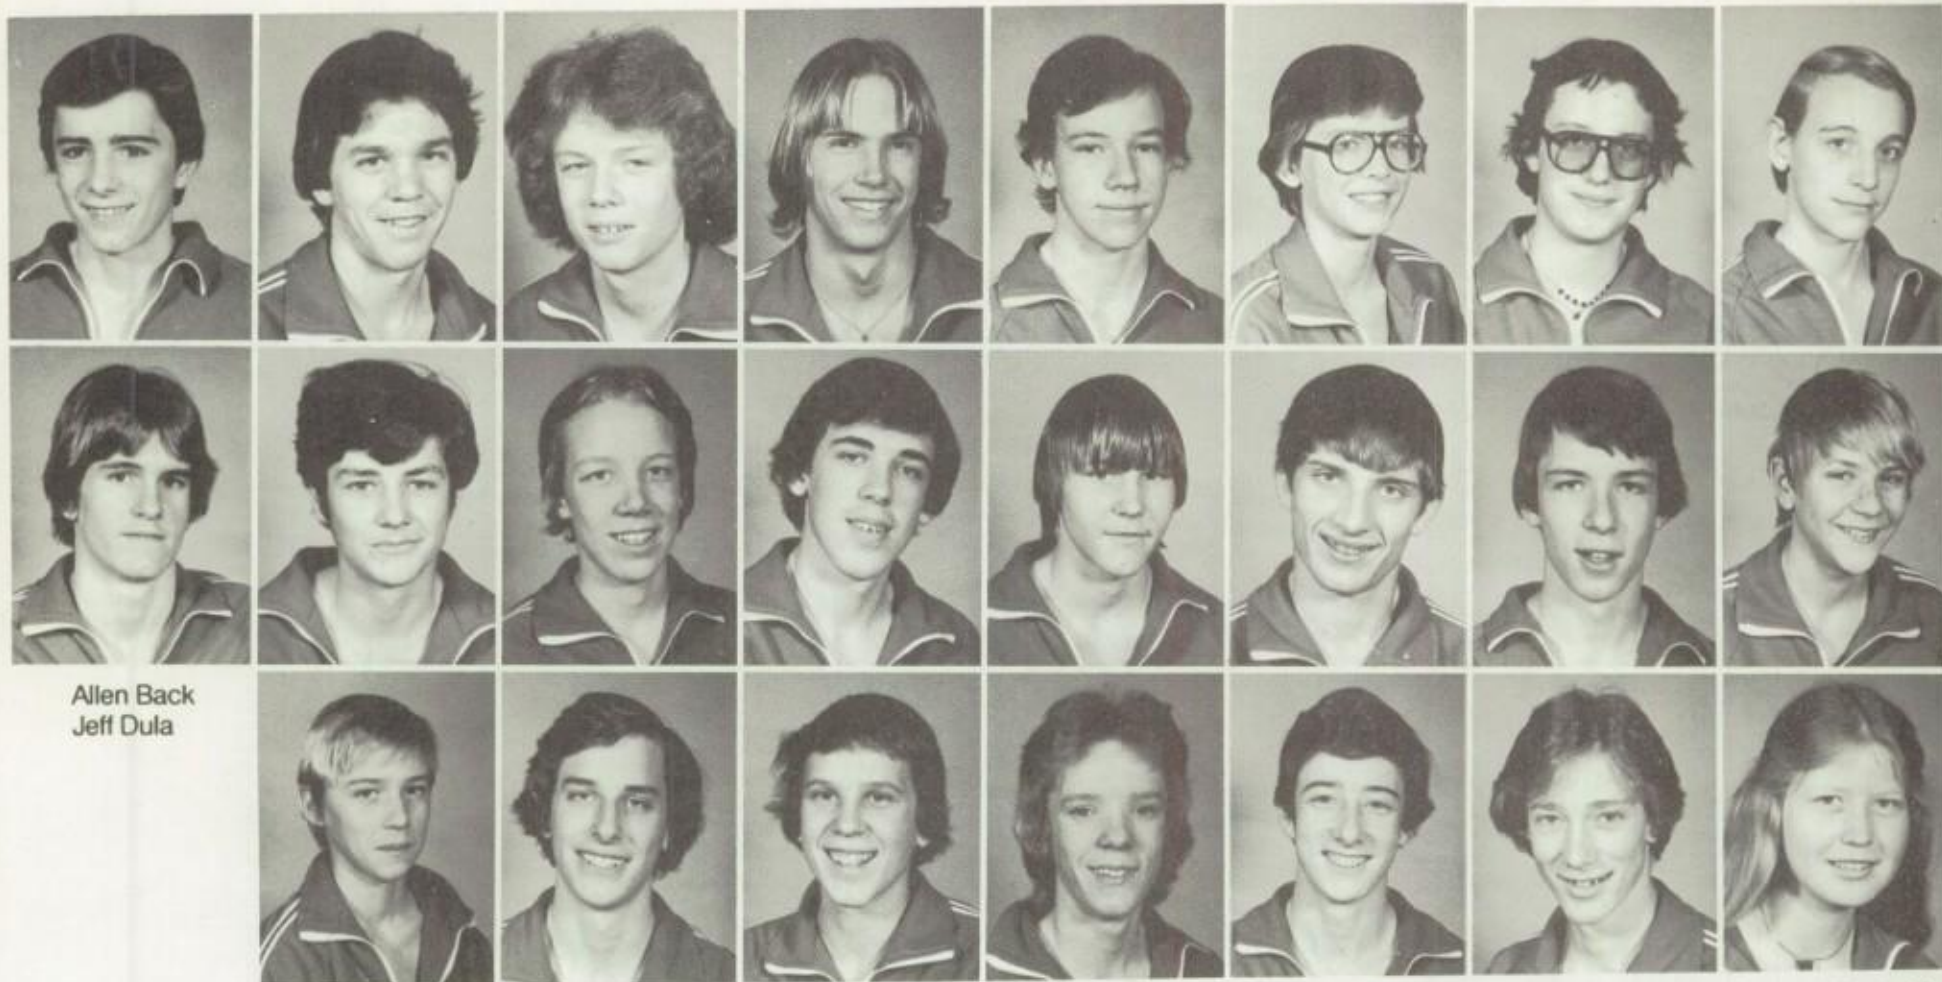

Working out at Riverside Park, the Soccer team boots for goals.

Panthers turned out for Soccer in greater numbers than ever before. For the first time, there were enough players in a full JV squad and fifteen players on Varsity. Soccer started in March with practices at Riverside Park for one to two hours on Tuesdays and Fridays. Some of the exercises were the run-walk of twenty paces, muscle stretches, and heading the ball. The goalies practiced separately from the team. We stayed free of injuries and were competitive.

The State tournament took place the second week in May. Last year, Robert and Ralph Titze, Art Sisneros, Jody Wilkinson, and Perry Nielson made the all-state soccer team and played in the all-star game. Mr. Bill Kershaw was the head coach, with Mr. John Hansen serving as assistant coach.

The 26 members met from 2:00 to 4:30 each day at the Deseret Gym with Courtney Ogilvie and Jackson Schultz leading the team as co-captains. Mr. Taylor stated outstanding swimmers of 76-77 year included Courtney Ogilvie and Scott Durant in the freestyle; Jackson Schultz in the individual medley race; Danny Waters, Alan Back, and Brian Huxhold were outstanding for the 10th grade while all freshmen swimmers excelled as a group with Keith Procter in the breast stroke consistently placing high. The swim team won eight out of sixteen meets while swimming in competition against the eight other high schools. The State swimming meet at the U of U on March 25-26 challenged West swimmers.

Coach Brent Taylor, ready to point out any mistakes, intently watches the swimmers.

GYMNASTS STRIVE FOR SKILL IN ROUTINES

GIRLS' BOWLING — FRONT: Kathy Waldrum, Reinette Warfield, Tracy Loya, Lynne Lee, Laurie Hartson. BACK: Karen Kelly, Kaelyn Beynon, Annette Jeppeson, Margie Moore, Karla Little.

Toning muscles to achieve perfection and form, Gymnastics Club leaped, turned and posed while practicing their routines. Working on uneven bars, balance beams, floor exercise and vaulting, girls in beginning, intermediate or advanced strove to gain coordination and skillful movement. Practices started November 1 with Miss Condie, sponsor, helping to prepare them for competition. Gymnasts competed in the Regional meet at Granite on March 30 in one or more events. Those qualifying went on to further competition in the State meet on April 2.

West's Girls' Bowling team took first place Region honors after beating East, South, and Highland in the City tournaments. However, Granite didn't attend their game against West, allowing the Panthers win by default.

In the City tournament, Cherrie Francom won third place with 524 points in a handicap series. Kaelyn Beynon took first place in a scratch series with 511 points. Margie Moore rose above everyone and took high average at 159, high game with 212, and high scratch series with 557 points. Margie received only one award because of regulations.

September 6 was the opening day for all athletic girls to try out for the girls' volleyball team. They practiced many hours and only those who worked for perfection made the team. After organizing as a team and learning what spikes and volleys consisted of, the team, played Cottonwood, Highland, and South in October. In November, they played Olympus, Skyline, Granite and East. Twelve girls played on the team, and with the help of Coach Jane Hughes they placed third in Regional competition but lost out in State. The girls' State volleyball champions at the University of Utah took place on December 2 - 4.

Playing each school twice in Regional competition, the Girls' Basketball Team began another year and practiced dribbling and shooting, combining them with quick-moving plays.

Varsity players who averaged 10 to 15 points a game included Shella Glasgow, Barbara Bradley, and Valerie Read.

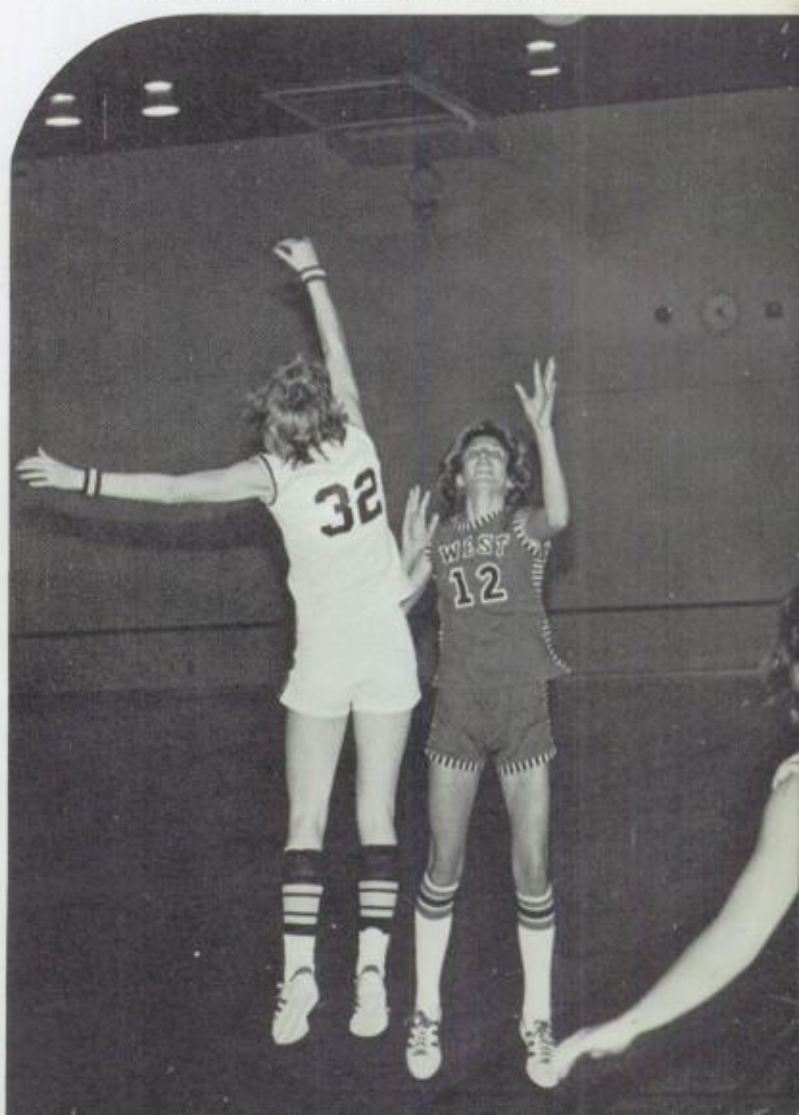

The team consisted of sixteen members who played a total of twelve games. They placed 4th in Region, and in State they went into consolation after losing to Clearfield. The games took place at the U of U from March 2 to 5.

GIRLS' TRACK / FIELD EVENTS BEGIN APRIL 1

Bats, bases, pitchers, homeruns, and short stops became a part of the girls' softball scene. Tryouts began the first of April with steady practices in 7th period and after school. The new competitors learned the basics of the game by playing each position in a round-robin situation. Eighteen girls made the team with Margaret Chew and Valerie Read as the outstanding pitchers.

In May at the Cottonwood Complex during the Regional softball playoffs, the girls' team went up against challenging competition.

Weight, interval training, and the learning of skills and drills constituted the daily workout for the twenty five girls on the track team.

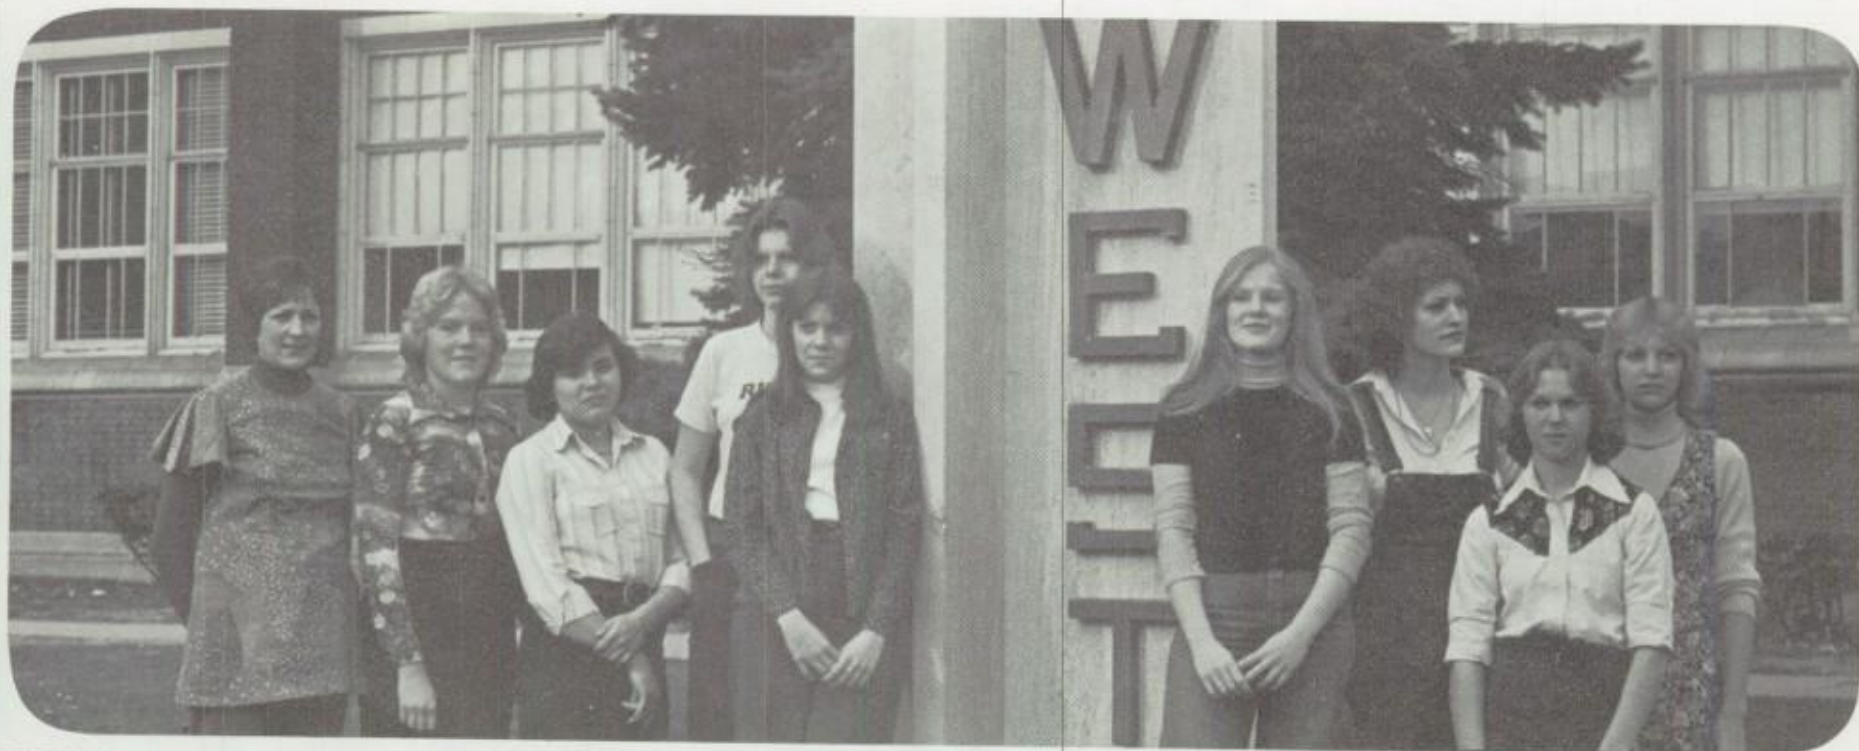

The team attended the BYU and U of U invitational meets when the city, regional and State champions received their awards. The Panthers also competed in the Nate Long Invitational meet held at South High; all the city schools competed at this meet.

GIRLS' TENNIS — FRONT: Miss Condie. ROW TWO: Jan O'Bagy, Lori Kocinski. BACK: Shelly Coates, Ann Merrick, Nancy Newren, Sandy Fechner, Pat Spencer.

School started with a splash for the twelve-member girls' swim team. Practices began on September 1 and lasted until November 10. The girls spent one hour every day at the Northwest Multi-Purpose Center from 3:00 p.m. until 4:00 p.m. They worked on diving, strokes, and relay racing to improve swimming competitively under the direction of Mrs. Marcia Phillips. She stated the outstanding swimmers were Melanie King in the breast stroke, Wendy Deters in freestyle swimming, and Carla Pully in 500 yard long distance swimming. The team battled against the Region high schools but lost all seven meets by a narrow margin. They, however, still competed in the Region meet at South on November 11.

Rackets swished tennis balls high into the air with seven girls heading the tennis team. Practices started August 23 under the direction of Miss Jeanette Condie, the sponsor. Early morning and after-school workouts helped the players to get in shape for the season's matches against the eight region schools. The netters played singles and doubles during the year with Nancy Newren winning most of her single matches. The Regional match took place at Liberty Park in the fall with none of the girls qualifying for the State meet.

INFLATION OF AMERICAN DATE

Even though students earned $2.30 an hour, no matter how hard students tried, by Friday night it always seemed necessary to borrow another $5 from Pop. Jobs were hard to find, and pay was always low, unlike the prices. Paying for clothes, food and gas didn't leave much money for dating or just going down State Street. The same old Saturday night became an extravagance, rather than an accepted occurrence. There were always ways to beat inflation, however, and students were the first to cash in on them. They found that leaching rides did not always make them popular, but it was a cheap way to go. Going without lunch made alot of students richer and skinnier. Shortages raged the nation from toilet paper to wheat but many students were most upset about an impending shortage of cotten products, i.e, jeans. Being naturally foresighted, many rushed to stores to buy up a supply large enough to last them through school. Some more prudent students were satisfied to add a few more patches to their old jeans. Guys suddenly became interested in Women's Lib, as they realized it could be a money saver for them. All that was needed to cut the price in half was to convince dates that to be truly liberated they should settle for nothing less than going Dutch. More established couples resorted to watching TV, taking romantic walks, and doing anything else that was free, like, well . . . But the ultimate cost-cutting sacrifice was giving up Der Wienerschnitzel for the school lunch!

Transportation: $.07 per mile x 15 miles equals $1.05.

Dinner: 2 managers' favorites, salads, bread, ice cream, coke, Dr. Pepper $7.35 Tip $1.00.

Movie: Young Frankenstein, tickets $2.50 each.

Movie Snacks: 2 Cokes $.50 each, bucket popcorn $1.35.

Caricature: Brent and Terri by West's own Dean Howell. $5.00.

TOTAL!!! $22.53.

YOUR CONFLICTING, CHANGING WORLD

"If we listen to warnings from every environmental dingbat we'd never get anything built!"

The world around you continually changed and forever presented problems. Inaugurated President of the United States on January 20, 1977, Jimmy Carter promised his countrymen fresh and new commitments to America. Now both the White House and the Congress were in control of the same party.

A last minute court decision cleared the way for the execution of Gary Mark Gilmore, 36, and moments later, at the Utah State Prison a firing squad shot the condemned killer, January 17, 1977 at 8:05 a.m. Gilmore, who killed two Utah County men, became the first man to suffer the death penalty in the U.S. in nearly ten years.

The long winter, reaching temperatures of 30 below zero and making January the coldest month in recorded history for 25 eastern cities, cost households an average of $139 for increased heating bills. In the West, states experienced a drought, the worst in Utah since 1934.

Conflict and uncertainty characterized the world around you.

When you left,
I felt
A silent sadness
Which descended
And folded around me
Like a vapor of tears.

Your restless
Spirit yearned
For the excitement
Of a journey
That I could not Take with you.

So I remain
And remember
With little things
Your laughter in a brook
Your radiance in a sunrise
Your gentleness
In soft summer breezes.

And somehow
I feel
That you haven't
Left forever,

Adrienne Lowden

Here I have known a place
Where people come to
To find themselves,
To be more than they have ever been.

Always, I have kept a part of myself locked up, and when I'm alone I reflect upon my need of being Somebody in a world that's doing its best night and day to make me Nobody.
I would like to see the world through you, and have you see the world through me.
Though different from ourselves as we are
from each other, together, we can become a mystery which may never happen again.

How did you know I exist only for those who believe in me?

I find everything I touch is now
some part of me,
and in truth
I have been able to see myself become more.

Perhaps the dreams I hoped for me,
The reality I yet may be.
Come see where I have been Standing, looking forward
Leaving everything behind . . .

I'm on my way.

This book is a symbol of the lives, personalities, and events that are now just memories.

Glen Lamar Jensen,

WHAT DO I SAY TO A GUY THAT I TOTALLY ADORE. THROUGHOUT THIS WHOLE YEAR I'VE THOUGHT SO MUCH OF YOU. YOU'RE
SO ~~BE~~ FUN TO BE WITH \equiv I KNOW WE'LL ALWAYS HAVE OUR LAUGHS. LAGOON WAS SUCH A RIG TO ME. YOU'RE NOT A BORING PERSON
AT ALL. YOUR GENTLE MANNER IS SOMETHING ELSE IS SO HARD TO FIND GUYS WHO HAVE A MIND OF THEIR OWN, AND ARE NOT SELFISH.
LAMAR DON'T CHANGE. LIVE OUT YOUR WISHES FOR YOU ARE ONE TO SETTLE ONLY FOR THE BEST.
- I SIT BACK I THINK ITS THE END OF THE ROAD & EVERYONE JUST GROWS APART NOW, LETS NOT GROW APART...

WITH LOTS OF LOVE

USE
Jensen
Lamar

Lamar,

You have always given me a laugh. We have had some really good times. Hope you have a good one.

Calvin

Johnson

Now that we understand each other a little better, I can say thanks
for being you.
(By the way, I'm still a Jesus freak)

John
